

Academic Technology Committee

August 13, 2015

Centennial Center

Members present: Tetyana Kyrylova, Cheri Mays, Amy Richards, Hugh Foley, Brenda Tuberville, Brian Reeves (ex-officio), Kay Brown (CTL)

3 p.m. As the past year's chair, Dr. Hugh Foley starts the meeting. Foley says he will take notes.

3:02: After Dr. Foley asks if anyone else would like to be chair of the committee, no one takes up the flag, so he agrees to chair the committee again.

3:05: Kay Brown, representing the Center for Teaching and Learning, gives us an update on future developments in the future of online course deliver at RSU. Ms. Brown indicates Janzabar's e-learning system is going to be in place for the Fall, 2016 semester. In the summer of 2016, we will start trial courses using Janzabar. Faculty can expect some training in 2016.

3:16: Brian Reeves, representing Academic Computing Services, indicated ACS has a busy summer installing the new phone systems and getting data access points ready for students in the new residence halls.

3:30: Faculty had a chance to express concerns they have for technology on campus. Subjects such as labs, laptop carts, and more A/V abilities in all classrooms would be a positive.

3:40: Dr. Foley mentions Dr. Dotterer would like for members of the committee to tour the campus classroom setups where technology is needed and make suggestions.

3:50: Dr. Foley adjourns meeting.

Addendum: About a week after this meeting, Dr. Kyrylova approached Dr. Foley about being the new chair of the Faculty Technology Committee. After querying the committee via e-mail, all who responded agreed. As a result, Dr. Kyrylova is the 2015-16 chair of the Faculty Technology Committee.
