

2022-2023 Cost of Attendance Appeal Form

Rogers State University has established an appeal process to address special circumstances which may impact your eligibility for financial aid. If you have additional expenses which exceed the standard cost of attendance used to award your financial aid for this year, you may appeal to have your Cost of Attendance (COA) reviewed. Additional expenses are listed below as examples of increases but an increase in the COA may not change your financial aid awards.

Please be aware that additional financial aid offered may be in the form of Direct Subsidized or Unsubsidized Loans. There is no guaranty that additional aid awarded will be in the form of a grant or scholarship. Students should consider loan assistance in part or in whole to assist with college costs.
