RETIRING FACULTY

DR. QUENTIN TAYLOR
PROFESSOR OF HISTORY & POLITICAL SCIENCE
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Dr. Quentin P. Taylor is a professor of history and political science at Rogers State University. He has taught at RSU since 2001. He has written widely on the political classics from Plato to Rawls. He is a recognized authority on the Federalist Papers and has been interviewed by the BBC, NPR, and MSNBC. He was a Liberty Fund Resident Scholar in 2008-09. He was one of two Oklahoma college educators to receive the 2014 Scholar of the Year Award from the Oklahoma Political Science Association.

Taylor earned a bachelor's degree in history, a master's degree in history, and a doctorate in political science, all from the University of Missouri-Columbia. He is the author of "The Republic of Genius: A Reconstruction of Nietzsche's Early Thought" and has written extensively on Plato, Machiavelli and The Federalist Papers.

DR. JAE-HO KIM
PROFESSOR OF BIOLOGY
COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Dr. Jae-Ho Kim is a professor at Rogers State University. He earned a Ph.D. in Genetics from the South Dakota State University and completed his postdoctoral work at the Medical University of South Carolina. He joined RSU in 2004 as an Assistant Professor in the Biology department, was promoted to Associate Professor in 2007, and became a Professor in 2012. Dr. Kim has served for 20 years at RSU and has maintained an exemplary record of excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. Before coming to RSU, he was an Associate Professor at Sterling College in Kansas. Additionally, Dr. Kim, an ordained pastor, has served in various capacities at local churches.

RETIRING ADMINISTRATION

LARRY RICE
PRESIDENT

Dr. Larry Rice is the 14th President of Rogers State University. President Rice began his academic career in 1979 as a full-time faculty member at RSU, then Claremore Junior College, where he taught classes in criminal justice, psychology and sociology. He was director of the Applied Science Division at Claremore Junior College and Rogers State College from 1979 to 1986 and associate director of academics for the Rogers State College campus in Pryor from 1986 to 1991.

He received a doctoral degree in education from Oklahoma State University, and master's and bachelor's degrees from Northeastern State University. He wrote his doctoral dissertation on "Eighty Years of University Preparatory Education on College Hill," a history of the institution presently known as RSU.

Before he was named president of RSU in 2008, he served as executive assistant to the president at the University of Tulsa from 2004 to 2007. He joined TU in 1991 as a member of the advancement staff and served as interim vice president for advancement from 1997 to 1998 and director of public affairs from 1991 to 2004. He served the citizens of Oklahoma as a representative of House District 8 from 1986 to 2004. Earlier this year, President Rice announced he will retire from RSU in July 2024.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

PRINCIPAL CHIEF CHUCK HOSKIN JR. CHEROKEE NATION

Chuck Hoskin Jr. serves as the Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, the largest tribe in the United States with more than 460,000 citizens. Through his leadership, the Cherokee Nation has developed key strategic partnerships with RSU, including support of nursing and allied health programs, RSU-TV, public safety and campus infrastructure projects. Before he was elected in 2019, and re-elected in 2023, Chief Hoskin served as the Cherokee Nation's Secretary of State, as well as Deputy Speaker of the Council of the Cherokee Nation.

As Principal Chief, he has increased minimum wage at Cherokee Nation and Cherokee Nation Businesses and secured the largest language investment in the tribe's history to expand Cherokee cultural preservation. He appointed the tribe's first Cherokee Nation delegate to the U.S. Congress. He prioritized health and wellness initiatives, including record investments in behavioral health and addiction treatment. Principal Chief Hoskin has also expanded tribal workforce training programs, sustainable housing, protections for natural resources, and educational opportunities for Cherokees of all ages.

He, along with First Lady January Hoskin, has elevated the voices of women and children, and their safety and wellbeing, within the Cherokee Nation Reservation.

PRESIDENT LARRY RICE

Dr. Larry Rice is the 14th President of Rogers State University. An Oklahoma native, President Rice has more than 40 years of experience in higher education.

President Rice began his academic career in 1979 as a full-time faculty member at RSU, which was then known as Claremore Junior College, where he taught classes in criminal justice, psychology and sociology.

He was director of the Applied Science Division at Claremore Junior College and Rogers State College from 1979 to 1986 and associate director of academics for the Rogers State College campus in Pryor from 1986 to 1991.

He received a doctoral degree in education from Oklahoma State University, and master's and bachelor's degrees from Northeastern State University.

He wrote his doctoral dissertation on "Eighty Years of University Preparatory Education on College Hill," a history of the institution presently known as RSU.

Before he was named president of RSU in 2008, he served as executive assistant to the president at the University of Tulsa from 2004 to 2007. At TU, Rice was responsible for government relations and the Presidential Scholars Program. He joined TU in 1991 as a member of the advancement staff and served as interim vice president for advancement from 1997 to 1998 and director of public affairs from 1991 to 2004.

He served the citizens of Oklahoma as a representative of House District 8 from 1986 to 2004.

Earlier this year, President Rice announced he will retire from RSU in July 2024.

PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The Presidential Medallion is the official symbol of the Office of the President at Rogers State University. Traditionally, the medallion is bestowed upon a new president to represent a transfer of the responsibility of office and an obligation to promote and maintain the values and ideals represented by the institution.

The medallion features the official RSU seal, which was designed in 1999 shortly after the Oklahoma Legislature renamed the institution Rogers State University and provided it with a new mission to seek accreditation as a four-year university. The university received accreditation as a baccalaureate degree granting institution in 2000 from the Higher Learning Commission.

The official RSU seal features the name of the institution at the top and the university's credo and guiding principles—Tradition, Innovation and Excellence—on the lower oval. In the middle is a representational drawing of iconic Preparatory Hall, the first building erected on the Claremore campus in 1911, two years after the institution was founded in 1909.

The seal was designed by Kate Northcutt, M.S.

TRADITION OF ACADEMIC REGALIA

The costume of those in the inaugural academic procession has a specific symbolism dating back to at least the 14th century. In 1895, academic institutions in the United States adopted a code of academic regalia, which has been revised from time to time. The regalia of institutions in other countries varies, and there is not a worldwide code, but the basic elements are present in all academic costumes.

GOWNS

The associate and certificate candidate gown is silver in color and features a traditional design. The bachelor's gown is black and has a pointed sleeve. The master's gown has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist (some older gowns may be open near the upper part of the arm.) The doctoral gown has bell-shaped sleeves, full-length velvet panels on the front and three velvet crossbars on each sleeve in black, blue, or the color distinctive to the subject of the owner's degree. Gowns for the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) are dark blue and gowns for the Doctor of Education (Ed.D.) are light blue.

HOODS

The hood, draped over the shoulders and down the back, indicates the subject to which the degree pertains and the university that conferred the degree. The level of the degree is indicated by the size of the hood. The velvet binding of the hood is of the color designating the subject of the degree. The satin lining of the hood indicates the university conferring the degree.

CAPS

In the United States, the mortar board is commonly used. The mortar board is black for those receiving a bachelor's degree and silver for those receiving an associate degree. The tassel, fastened to the center of the cap, is normally worn in the left front quadrant of the cap after a degree is conferred. Students receiving undergraduate degrees in the College of Arts and Sciences wear blue tassels. Students receiving undergraduate degrees in the College of Professional Studies wear red tassels. Students receiving graduate degrees wear white tassels. Students receiving degrees from Cameron University wear light blue tassels. Faculty tassels may be black, gold or the color appropriate to the subject of the degree. The tassel for the doctoral cap may be of gold thread.

HONOR STOLES

Rogers State University Honor Graduates wear stoles, according to the following criteria:

Summa Cum Laude - Blue Stole 4.0 G.P.A.
Magna Cum Laude - Red Stole 3.8 G.P.A.
Cum Laude - White Stole 3.6 G.P.A.

Cameron University Honor Graduates wear stoles, according to the following criteria:

Summa Cum Laude 4.0 G.P.A.
Magna Cum Laude . . 3.8 G.P.A. & in top five percent of graduating class
Cum Laude 3.6 G.P.A & in next ten percent of graduating class

STUDENT HONOR CORDS

An Honor Cord is traditionally a token consisting of twisted cords with tassels on either end awarded to members of honor societies and academic programs. Sashes, stoles or medallions may be given in place of cords. Unlike hoods and stoles, by tradition more than one cord may be worn at the same time.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES PINS & CORDS

Members of various student organizations and activities may be wearing cords or pins based on their membership and participation in those organizations. A full list of these regalia items may be found on the RSU website at www.rsu.edu/commencement.

CEREMONIAL TRADITIONS

THE MACE

The mace symbolizes the authority of the faculty in academic matters and the practice of shared governance within the university. During the Middle Ages, the mace was an effective weapon in battle. As newer and more powerful arms were developed, its military significance diminished and it was transformed into a symbol of authority. The earliest ceremonial maces were borne by bodyguards of the 12th century English and French kings. By the end of the 16th century, they were used widely by officials of English cities and towns. Today, the use of the ceremonial mace is found in the British Houses of Parliament and it is carried before ecclesiastical dignitaries and in university ceremonies.

MACE BEARER

Carrying the mace has long been a commencement tradition at Rogers State University.

Each year, a veteran faculty member bears the mace. This year, Dr. Hugh Foley, Professor of Fine Arts, assumes this honor.

The mace is a six-foot walnut staff featuring the gold dome of Preparatory Hall at the top and the university seal on four sides. Five stripes at its base signify the institution's various incarnations, including the Oklahoma Military Academy and the present-day university.

The mace was designed by Gary Moeller, Emeritus Professor of Fine Arts, and was crafted by Jerry Emanuel, a Claremore artist.

GONFALONS

The gonfalon, a flag that hangs from a crosspiece or frame, originated in the medieval republics of Italy as an ensign of the state of office. Gonfalons have been adopted in many universities around the world as college or institutional insignias.

The two navy gonfalons displayed represent the two academic colleges of Rogers State University. The RSU gonfalons and university logo were designed by James Randall Riggs, BA '04.

The third gonfalon represents the Department of Education at Cameron University. The Department of Education prides itself on preparing future teachers to be caring, competent and committed educators. The Cameron gonfalon was designed by Ann Morris.

PIXLEY AWARD

The Pixley Excellence in Education Award is the highest honor bestowed upon a member of the RSU faculty. It recognizes excellence in all areas of faculty accomplishment: teaching, scholarship, creativity and service. The recipient is selected on the basis of a peer nomination and review process conducted by the RSU faculty. The Pixley award is made possible by the Pixley Endowment for Excellence in Education at RSU.

HISTORY OF RSU

RSU was founded in 1909 - two years after Oklahoma was granted statehood. The institution was officially established as Eastern University Preparatory School in Claremore by the Oklahoma Legislature during its second session. The mission of the school was to prepare the sons and daughters of Native Americans, farmers and ranchers for entry into the colleges and universities of Oklahoma.

During the construction of its first building, Preparatory Hall, from 1909 to 1911, classes were held in the Claremont Building in Claremore. Five students graduated at the end of the institution's first academic year. During its second academic year (1910-11), 375 students were enrolled. The institution continued to grow rapidly, adding a library in 1914 and receiving accreditation as a secondary school by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in 1916. Preparatory Hall housed the operations of the institution until it was closed in 1917.

Two years later, the institution was resurrected as the Oklahoma Military Academy in response to the needs of the United States Armed Forces. By 1923, the Oklahoma Military Academy offered secondary education and two years of college to young men from Oklahoma and across the nation.

The Oklahoma Military Academy has an extensive register of graduates who became great leaders, both in military and civilian life. More than 2,500 OMA graduates served in the Armed Forces of the United States during World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War. More than 100 graduates gave their lives in service to their country. OMA quickly gained recognition as one of the top military schools in the U.S., and was often referred to as the "West Point of the Southwest."

In 1971, in response to the growing educational needs of a rapidly developing economy in the Claremore area, the Oklahoma Legislature replaced the Oklahoma Military Academy with the new Claremore Junior College. The mission of the institution was expanded to provide a variety of associate degree programs for area residents.

Claremore Junior College grew from 477 students in 1971 to more than 3,000 in 1982, when the institution was renamed Rogers State

College to better represent the areas it served - Rogers County and the surrounding communities.

As Rogers State College, the institution prospered, adding a variety of academic programs, including the state's only full-power public television station on a college campus in Oklahoma. The institution became a national pioneer in distance education, offering telecourses and independent study options for students.

In 1996, the Oklahoma Legislature approved the merger of Rogers State College and the University Center at Tulsa (UCAT), a consortium of four Oklahoma universities - the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, Northeastern State University and Langston University. The new institution was named Rogers University and continued operation for two years with branches in Claremore and Tulsa.

In 1998, the Oklahoma Legislature separated the institutions, creating a branch of Oklahoma State University in Tulsa, and Rogers State University, a new regional university with a main campus in Claremore.

The Oklahoma Legislature granted permission for Rogers State University to seek accreditation at the baccalaureate level.

The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools formally granted RSU accreditation as a four-year university in August 2000.

RSU celebrated its 100th Anniversary in 2009 with a variety of special events, including guest speakers, a Centennial parade and dedication of the new Centennial Center.

The university operates its main campus in Claremore with additional campuses in Bartlesville and Pryor, along with its nationally recognized online program. RSU has undertaken massive renovations to academic buildings in Claremore, Bartlesville and Pryor, along with improvements to athletic facilities and the construction of new residential housing. RSU enjoys status as the only public four-year, residential university in the Tulsa metropolitan area.

RSU has distinguished itself through its mix of certificate, associate, bachelor's and master's degree programs that include cutting-edge degrees in emerging fields. Students also have the opportunity to participate in a variety of unique programs, including the Honors Program, President's Leadership Class, studies-at-large and prestigious internships. In fall 2014, the university expanded its academic offerings to include its first graduate program, a Master of Business Administration. In the fall of 2021, the university's second graduate program, the Master of Science in Community Counseling, enrolled its first cohort.

Today, Rogers State University is widely recognized for its high-quality academic programs, distance learning and high-technology learning environments, all with a personal approach to best serve its students.
